

TRAVEL IT. EXPLORE IT. LIVE IT. Still undecided?

Consult with one of our Study Abroad Ambassadors. These students have participated in international study and are happy to share their experiences or address any specific concerns you may have.

In addition to semester and yearlong programs, short-term intercessional Study Abroad programs are often available in countries such as Costa Rica or Italy.

"Studying abroad was the most amazing experience I have ever had. There were countless times when I encountered places and met people that I will always remember. I wish that more people would take advantage of the program. In Scotland I was exposed to an entirely different culture that reshaped my ability to handle new situations and people."

A World of Benefits

The experiential learning qualities of international study add an enriching and valuable dimension to the college learning experience. Among other benefits, these programs:

- promote an appreciation for differences in culture, race, religion and lifestyle;
- broaden the educational experience by engaging students in cross-cultural dialogues;
- prepare students to participate as citizens of the evolving global community;
- create meaningful relationships inside and outside the classroom; and
- bring a real-world context to areas of study.

"Living in another country while learning its language, its history, and its culture epitomizes true learning and it epitomizes what Le Moyne is about. Learning in another culture opens your eyes, breaks boundaries, and causes you to grow into a more mature and globally aware person. An experience of this nature is something that touches you in a profound way, and it is an experience that you will remember and draw upon for the rest of your life."

LIVE AND LEARN — IN A GLOBAL CLASSROOM

In today's increasingly small world, students who participate in a Study Abroad program gain a critical advantage as they prepare for life and a successful career after college. With the world as their classroom, students pursue studies in their field of choice even as they immerse themselves in a new way of life and develop new perspectives on the people and cultures of other lands.

"Studying abroad opens your eyes to the global community. You have the opportunity to meet people from all over the world. Their views and stories are worth more than anything you could learn in a classroom."

— Heather Scheidt '05
University of Essex, England

[Santo Domingo, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC]

A World of Choices

Study Abroad opportunities at Le Moyne College are available to all students, regardless of major, and may be arranged for a semester, year-long, or summer session. Le Moyne currently offers its own Study Abroad programs in England, Scotland, Czech Republic, Germany, the Dominican Republic and Guatemala, with other new programs planned. The Office of Global Education will, however, assist students in identifying Study Abroad locations and programs nearly anywhere in the world. Le Moyne's Office of Global Education guides students in choosing programs based on their academic needs, their interests and the country in which they wish to study.

"Learning should not be limited to the pages of a book. Rather, it should be experienced first hand. This is the great advantage of studying abroad."

— Angela Bailey '05
Hirakata-Shi, Japan

"My internship in the Oireachtas (Irish National Parliament) was the best of two worlds. I got to combine studying abroad with doing a government internship so that the education was an experience and the experience was an education."

— Aileen Anderson '06
Dublin, Ireland

LIVE

"As an education minor, I believe one of my best experiences abroad was teaching English to students in a park as part of my community service. I improved both my Spanish skills and teaching skills at the same time."
