Employers review this brief information to decide whether to investigate a candidate further. See sample content for these elements at the end of this guide. Consider the following guidelines for optimizing your profile:

• Your goal is to become a LinkedIn All-Star. All-Stars are 40 times more likely to receive opportunities through LinkedIn. You can become an All-Star by completing the sections of your profile outlined below and by establishing at least 50 connections.

• Choose a background photo that enhances your story. This could highlight your career path, interests, a location, or simply speaks to you. It should also work well with your headshot. Google “free LinkedIn background photos” for ideas.

• Craft your headline carefully by using keywords and position titles. This is what the employer sees first beneath your name – and you want to make sure it shows an immediate match. By default, LinkedIn displays your current position and company. If you have an internship you’re very proud of then you can keep that title. If not, update your title to include relevant keywords to match the types of positions to which you are applying.

Examples

Low Impact Headline

Junior Anthropology Major at Le Moyne College

High Impact Headline

Biology Major at Le Moyne College | Emergency Medical Technician | American Red Cross Volunteer

Environmental Studies Major at Le Moyne College Passionate About Conservation Film-Making

Dean’s List Student-Athlete | Aspiring Wealth Management Professional | Entrepreneur | Dolphin Green & Gold Fund Junior Analyst

• Use descriptive job titles for past and current employment. Avoid generic titles such as intern, work-study student worker or student assistant. For example, if you work in the Career Advising office, list your title as “Career Advising Student Worker” vs. just “Student Worker”.

• Ask for recommendations from previous supervisors, co-workers, professors, coaches, and others who know you well academically or professionally. You can give recommendations to others, too, and they may then recommend you in turn. You can ask for a recommendation directly through LinkedIn but we recommend sending an email ahead of time asking for the recommendation and providing context on what you want the person to write about.

• Add examples to your profile, including writing samples, video(s), presentations, flyers, etc. (from your coursework, campus involvement, or job/internship). Provide links to career-related blogs or other social media feeds. You can also include your resume as a Google document. Examples of your work can be placed in the “Featured” section and/or throughout your profile.
• Treat the “About” section as valuable real estate. You have 2,000 characters to connect the dots of your experience and tell your story. Unlike a resume, it is a first-person narrative – make it interesting to read. Consider these questions: Who is your audience? What will motivate them to want to learn more about you? To consider you for an interview? What examples and quantifiable results can you use to demonstrate your points.

Examples

1) I’m a sophomore Peace & Global Studies major at Le Moyne College. Since I can remember, I have taken an interest in issues that impact our global society such as immigration, climate change, refugees, and terrorism. I am involved in Model UN, FORCES (Friends of Recreation, Conservation, and Environmental Stewardship) and volunteer weekly with the Sandwich Makers. I’m particularly interested in foreign policy and hope to one day work at the State Department or for an NGO. For now, I’m committed to working in our community to address some of the biggest issues of our time.

2) Detail-oriented business analytics major with a knack for demystifying data. I have strong curiosity for employing analytical techniques to investigate, find patterns, and draw conclusions from data. I hope to find work after graduation this May as a data analyst to help enable decisions and spark positive change.

   Competencies:
   - Data: Data Analysis | Data Management | Data Scrubbing
   - Software: R | Excel | Python
   - Leadership: Public Speaking | Team Engagement | Problem Solving

• Customize your URL. Click the Me icon at the top of your LinkedIn homepage. Click View profile. Click Edit public profile & URL in the right rail. Under Edit your custom URL in the right rail, click the Edit icon next to your public profile URL. Type the last part of your new custom URL in the text box; try using your first and last name with no spaces. This will make it easy to include your URL on your resume and business cards.

• Post on LinkedIn: Now that you have a strong profile, think about sharing posts or writing articles. Topics could include a summary of an internship experience; summary or take-away message from attending a career or industry-related talk, event, or webinar; detailing an award you won at school or work, etc.

Build Your Network

LinkedIn is only as powerful as the number of people in your network. Set a goal of 100 connections to start your LinkedIn networking, and then add a few additions each week. LinkedIn will offer relevant contact suggestions.

• Connect with Alums: Type “Le Moyne College” into the search bar and find the College’s school page. Once you’re there, you’ll see “Alumni” as one of the menu options. You can filter results based on keywords that may appear anywhere on their profile (including past experiences), years of attendance, location, current employer, functional area, area of study, skills, and degrees of separation.

- Be sure to send a message along with your invitation to connect with alums to increase the chances of them accepting your request and responding. You can omit the signature, because by default the e-mail they receive already includes that information.

EXAMPLE:

Dear First Name,

Hello, I am a sophomore psychology major at Le Moyne and I’d like to connect with you because I’m considering a career in social services. Thank you for considering this request and I look forward to the opportunity to learn more about your career path.

- Join Groups and Professional Associations in your industry of interest, national chapters of organizations you are involved with, and community groups. It is a quick way to build your network and enhance your profile. You can listen in on career-related group conversations, ask questions, and identify people with whom to connect.

- Follow Companies, Influencers, and Industry Leaders to follow news and gain insight
  - Influencers: Top 20 LinkedIn Influencers

- Advanced Search: To perform more advanced searches, make sure you click “All filters” under the search bar to locate professionals by city, position, organization, college, etc.

- Use Discretion when Accepting Invitations. Be wary of people wanting to connect without a profile picture. Avoid invitations from complete strangers, unless there is a recognized thread of connection.

- Follow-up after Connecting. Alums are usually willing to help students with informational interviews about their career journeys, questions about organizations in which they work, advice on resumes, etc. Once you’re connected, you can send them a direct message through LinkedIn.

Apply for Jobs on LinkedIn

Use LinkedIn Jobs to setup preferences for your job search including location, seniority, organization size, industry and job function. You can also search by zip code or keyword, and it will automatically indicate if you have connections at the organization.

- Read the position announcement CAREFULLY

- Keep in mind that you only need to meet 70% of the requirements to be considered for the position – especially if you meet the top three requirements

- Include a resume and cover letter tailored to the job

- After applying, reach out to the employer who posted the job on LinkedIn to share your interest in the role and let them know you applied

Do I need a LinkedIn Premium Account?

A Basic LinkedIn account is free and recommended for students seeking part-time or internship positions. The Premium Job Seeker plan on LinkedIn may prove beneficial to students and alums seeking full time employment. For more information, please visit premium.linkedin.com.

What about the Mobile Apps?

LinkedIn has mobile apps for the general system as well as a dedicated ones just for job seekers and students. The technology and offerings are developing so quickly that it is difficult to provide guidance. We suggest that you review the apps and decide which mode you prefer; the desktop site or mobile apps.

Elements of a Complete LinkedIn Profile

PHOTO: It doesn’t have to be fancy - just a simple shot in front of a plain background. And don’t forget to smile!

HEADLINE: A short, memorable, professional slogan. Should capture who you are now and what you’re looking for.

ABOUT: Do not skip this section. Use it to put career choices and goals in context, highlight your achievements, and show off your personality.

PLEASE NOTE: LinkedIn frequently makes changes to the user interface. If you don’t see an element referenced here, look around carefully because it likely has been renamed.
