LE MOYNE COLLEGE MISSION STATEMENT

Le Moyne College is a diverse learning community that strives for academic excellence in the Catholic and Jesuit tradition through its comprehensive programs rooted in the liberal arts and sciences. Its emphasis is on education of the whole person and on the search for meaning and value as integral parts of the intellectual life. Le Moyne College seeks to prepare its members for leadership and service in their personal and professional lives to promote a more just society.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The origin of academic caps, gowns and hoods dates to the 12th century and the rise of the universities, which were originally under the auspices of the church, and whose faculties were comprised of churchmen. These scholars wore clerical robes, hoods and capes as much for warmth during the long, cold European winters as for distinction.

Today the standard academic regalia worn in the United States are of three types. The bachelor's gown is characterized by its simplicity of line and long, pointed sleeves, distinguishing it from the master's gown, best recognized by its rectangular, "wing-like" sleeves. The doctor's gown, with full, bell-shaped sleeves, is faced in front and back with velvet and has three velvet bars across the sleeves. In addition, the tassel on the doctor's cap may be gold.

The hood is the most symbolic part of the academic regalia. Its size and shape indicate the level of the degree held, its lining shows the colors of the institution granting it, and the color of its velvet border corresponds to the general academic program of the degree. Thus, all Le Moyne hoods are lined with green and gold, the College colors. Among the hoods worn by Le Moyne graduates and faculty, most have borders of one of the following colors: white (arts and letters) for those with the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Master of Arts; golden yellow (science), corresponding to the degree of Bachelor of Science or Master of Science; and dark blue (philosophy), worn by faculty holding the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in various academic disciplines. Other colors worn by Le Moyne faculty and administrative personnel, indicating the master's or doctor's degree they hold, include crimson (theology), purple (law), drab (business administration) and light blue (education).

All student regalia is made in the USA from 100 percent post-consumer plastic bottles.

Stoles, cords and pins signify academic honors, membership in an academic honor society, or significant engagement in co-curricular activities, exemplifying Le Moyne's mission to educate the hearts and minds of students in inspiring them to become persons for others.

ALMA MATER

Against the sky you stand, Le Moyne
A beacon to us all,
And on the Heights our forces join,
We rally to your call.

May your ideal be our command
Your praises ever sung;
So long as on the Heights you stand
Your name be on our tongue.

From loyal hearts our challenge roars
That here we stand allied,
You're ours, Le Moyne, and we are yours
While Heights and Hearts abide.

From loyal hearts our challenge roars
That here we stand allied,
You're ours, Le Moyne, and we are yours
While Heights and Hearts abide.

The Jesuit Student Relief Fund was created by the College in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and the many challenges students faced as a result. This fund provided integral support for students that enabled them to continue their studies, including: Food and Housing, Travel and Medical Expenses, Internet Bills, Textbooks, and a variety of other case-specific needs. HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

JOHN “JACK” BOORMAN ’63, PH.D.

John “Jack” Boorman’63, Ph.D., was a scholar of macroeconomics and an expert on the intersections of geopolitics and finance. In his work with the International Monetary Fund, Jack cultivated a view that was necessarily transnational, spending much of his life examining shifting resources and changing policies across continents, nation states and decades. Yet, despite this global perspective, he knew that behind these shifting resources and changing economic patterns were individual families and communities yearning to do more than just survive.

For Jack, thinking globally and acting locally was something more than a bumper sticker. In his work with the IMF, Jack developed policies that would help to nurture growth in struggling economies; he pushed the IMF to recognize the needs of developing countries; and, with characteristic charm and grace, he willingly provoked those in power to attend to the needs of those without it. Benjamin Franklin, another student of economics and politics, once wrote, “Without continual growth and progress, such words as ‘improvement,’ ‘achievement,’ and ‘success’ have no meaning.” Jack devoted his professional life to creating a world where growth and progress could be measured not simply in terms of material wealth, but by a peace and prosperity that span the globe. Whether he was guiding the former Soviet Union as it transformed into a market economy or steering Le Moyne College through the Great Recession of 2008, Jack was a steward whose steady leadership, as much as his talent, calmed troubled waters.

While we honor Jack for his many professional accomplishments, we also celebrate the values he lived and modeled each day. He treated everyone – whether that individual was hosting him at the G7 or serving him coffee at the Dolphin Den – with the same unfailing courtesy and kindness. Jack never forgot the Jesuit ideal that all work is honorable and all workers dignified by their efforts. His example inspired generations of younger economists at the IMF, just as he inspired the students who were fortunate enough to hear him lecture. Once described as “the conscience of the IMF,” Jack led by example, with humility, integrity and compassion. A loving husband, devoted friend and dedicated mentor, he was that rarest of all success stories: both a gentleman and a gentle man.

In gratitude for his keen intellect and his outstanding contributions to his profession and his alma mater, Le Moyne College is honored to present to the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters – honoris causa.

SHARON KINSMAN SALMON ’78

Few people are as gracious with their time, talent and expertise as Sharon Kinsman Salmon ’78. Le Moyne has benefited greatly from her largess. A longtime member of the College’s board of trustees who at various points served as that body’s secretary, vice chair and chair, Sharon epitomizes what it means to be an effective leader and dedicated alumna. It was as board chair in 2014 that she made history by making Linda LeMura, Ph.D., the first lay woman president of a Jesuit college or university in the United States. In addition to her work on the board, she volunteers her time to the College’s Office of Admission and Office of Career Advising and Development. She is, in the words of one fellow alumnus, “a thoughtful listener who is adept at synthesizing different points of view to bring about consensus.” Sharon is also passionate about learning more about others and the world around her. When she had the opportunity to join several other trustees on a pilgrimage to Spain to follow in the footsteps of Saint Ignatius Loyola, she leapt at it. What better way to plan for the future of Jesuit education than by immersing yourself in its roots?

A highly respected professional, Sharon retired from pharmaceutical giant Pfizer in February 2008. She served as its vice president and assistant treasurer, and was responsible for managing $20 billion in global pension fund and savings plan assets for the bulk of her 21-year career at the organization. During her last two years at Pfizer, Sharon was vice president, global compensation and benefits, and was responsible for compensation, benefits, health and wellness plans, programs and policies worldwide. In addition to her professional responsibilities, she devoted herself to numerous civic and charitable causes, including the Bergen Family Center, Keith V. Kiernan Foundation and Leadership Alliance International Inc. Sharon earned a master’s degree in business administration from Fordham University and a bachelor’s degree in political science from Le Moyne.

With deep appreciation for her talent, leadership and guidance, Le Moyne College is pleased to present to the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters – honoris causa.

CORNELIUS “NEIL” MURPHY JR., PH.D.

Cornelius “Neil” Murphy Jr., Ph.D., is an innovator, collaborator and visionary. Those closest to Neil are quick to say that his favorite question is: Why not? He seems to specialize in the art of the possible. During his tenure as president of the State University of New York College of Environmental Science and Forestry, enrollment increased from 1,700 to 2,300 students, sponsored research expenditures grew from $9.8 million to $14.4 million, and an array of dynamic new academic offerings, including bioprocess engineering and sustainable energy management, were introduced. That Neil used quantifiable metrics such as these to assess the school’s progress is not surprising. After all, he is a man of science, committed to logic and reasoning.

What may surprise people is how deeply personal Neil’s work in the president’s office was to him. He vastly preferred in-person meetings to emails or phone calls; he relished discussing the faculty research taking place on every continent across the globe; and, as he shared in an interview with Inside ESF, he looked forward to having breakfast or lunch with students, a tradition lovingly dubbed “Meals with Neil.” As one colleague so aptly said of his work, “If there’s a hallmark Neil leaves, it’s that the issues we’re dealing with are so enormous they can only be dealt with through collaboration, and Neil has led the way.”

Neil retired as the president of SUNY ESF in 2013. However, he continues to promote the institution’s mission “to advance knowledge and skills and to promote the leadership necessary for the stewardship of both the natural and the designed environments” as a senior fellow for environmental and sustainable systems. He does so because he believes we all have a responsibility to the world we share.

With deep appreciation for his work as an educator, administrator and environmentalist, Le Moyne College is proud to present to

DAN MCNEIL JR. ’51

Dan McNeil Jr. ’51 personifies what it means to be Jesuit educated, “a man or woman for and with others.” Wherever life takes him, Dan has the unique ability to meet everyone he encounters exactly where they are, to ensure that they are seen, heard and understood. And to be clear, life has taken Dan to some pretty interesting places. A veteran of World War II, he entered Le Moyne as a member of its first class, commuting to the College from his home in Cortland and supporting himself in part by working as a musician at local dances a few times per week. He went on to become president of the award-winning McNeil Development Company, which has been widely credited with revitalizing downtown Cortland. He put his expertise in business to work as a member of the city’s Chamber of Commerce. Dan has also given back to his community through his support of a variety of philanthropic and civic organizations, including but not limited to: the Cortland County Family YMCA, the Rotary Club, the Racker Center in its mission to support people with disabilities, the American Legion, and the Rose and Dan McNeil Foundation with a focus on supporting music in the Cortland community. Most important though, he and his wife of 64 years, the late Rose McNeil, raised a beautiful family that includes six children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Dan has done all of these things – and more – with supreme joy – and while modeling humility, honesty and hard work. Those closest to him will tell you that he credits much of his success to his education, and that he believes firmly in the power of education to nurture, transform and inspire. He has shared that belief with succeeding generations of McNeils. Two of his children, Dan III ’77 and Mary, MBA ’08, and two of his grandchildren, Lauren Davis ’08 and Brent ’21, are alumni of the College. Today this family, which is such an important part of the College’s history, is playing an equally important role in its future. Inspired by their patriarch, they recently founded the McNeil Academy at Le Moyne, whose mission is to develop and oversee a world-class program in risk management and insurance that emphasizes ethics and socially responsible leadership. The values that serve as the cornerstone of Dan McNeil’s life also serve as the foundation of the Academy bearing his name.

With deep appreciation for his spirit, intellect and heart, Le Moyne College is pleased to present to the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters – honoris causa.

DAN MCNEIL JR. ’51

JOYCE STOKES JONES

Most people know Harriet Ross Tubman as an abolitionist who dedicated herself to freeing enslaved men, women and children using the conduit now known as the Underground Railroad. She is, for them, someone whose life and work they studied in their high school social studies classes. But for Joyce Stokes Jones, Tubman is much more than a historical figure – she is her great grand aunt. A native of Auburn, N.Y., Joyce has dedicated much of her adult life to researching and writing about Tubman’s life and times. She crafted thoughtful columns about Black life and heritage for the Syracuse Herald Journal and Readers Press, and produced segments dealing with issues important to the Black community for WCNY. Beyond that, Joyce has made numerous presentations on Tubman’s life at schools and various community forums.

Joyce’s extensive research of Tubman brought her to places like Annapolis, Cambridge and Bucktown, Md., Cleveland, New York City, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia, as well as St. Catharines, Canada. That work culminated in her book, Beyond the Underground: Aunt Harriet, Moses of Her People, which she co-wrote with her daughter, Michelle Jones Galvin. Aunt Harriet was published in 2013, 100 years after Tubman’s death. It has been described as “a work reminiscent of family lore, memoir and historical fact.” In its pages, Joyce sought to take a deep dive into her ancestor’s life and story. As she told Central New York Woman Magazine, “I wanted to put our history in the public.”

An alumna of West High School, Joyce was a career secretary and retired in 1989 after 15 years as secretary to the president of the Syracuse Common Council.

With deep appreciation for chronicling her family’s legacy and charting her own course as an author and historian, Le Moyne College is proud to present to

JOYCE STOKES JONES

DAVID DASHER '69, D.D.S.

David Dasher '69, D.D.S., gives others a reason to smile. As the director of Amaus Dental Services in Syracuse, David provides crucial care, free of charge, to those who find themselves unemployed, homeless or without dental insurance. The tools of his trade include mirrors, X-Ray machines and drills, as well as compassion, empathy and kindness. On an average day, David may help one patient experiencing chronic pain, another in need of a long-overdue checkup, and still another who may feel self-conscious about the appearance of his teeth. Knowing that he is able to assist his patients, and make a positive impact on their overall health, buoys him through even the most delicate, challenging procedures.

Caregiving and service are part of David’s DNA. Prior to founding Amaus Dental Services, he was the dental director for both the Syracuse Community Health Center and the Community Health Care Center in Wichita Falls, Texas. He also served in the United States Air Force (U.S.A.F.) for 25 years, and was a special consultant in both war readiness and enlisted training for the United States Air Force Deputy Surgeon General for Dental Services. David helped to develop the U.S.A.F.’s initial Dental Quality Assurance Guidelines. He was nominated for Texas General Dentist of the Year in 2008 and received the Hallmark of Excellence Award from the New York State Dental Association in 2019. He is a fellow of the International College of Dentists and the Academy of General Dentistry.

A proud Le Moyne alumnus, David is a member of the College’s Physician Assistant Advisory Group and the Purcell School of Graduate and Professional Studies Advisory Council, and is an active member of the Pre-Health Advisement and Career Advisory networks at the College.

He earned a bachelor’s degree in biology from Le Moyne and his Doctor of Dental Surgery from the University at Buffalo School of Dental Medicine.

With deep appreciation for his work on behalf of his patients, his community and his alma mater, Le Moyne College is pleased to present to

ROBERT FANGIO '78, D.D.S.

Careful. Gentle. Unhurried. Those words are often ascribed to Robert Fangio '78, D.D.S., by his colleagues and his patients. As a volunteer dentist at Amaus Dental Services in Syracuse, Robert plays a pivotal role in helping Amaus meet its goal of providing free quality dental care to people across Central New York who are unemployed, uninsured or homeless. His patients include refugees, single mothers and individuals living on fixed incomes. He joined the clinic after retiring from more than 30 years in private practice, eager to dedicate himself to aiding others. It seemed only natural to him. After all, as he explained to The Catholic Sun, "I'm still pretty gentle in the chair with people ... I hate hurting people."

Robert is guided in his work by his faith, which gives him courage, strength and a sense of purpose. He has said that he lives by 1 Corinthians, 12:7: "To each individual the manifestation of the Spirit is given for some benefit." In 2014, Robert was ordained a deacon in the Roman Catholic Diocese of Syracuse. Last year, he was named the director of deacon personnel for the Office of the Permanent Diaconate after previously working as the assistant director of the office. It is safe to say that Catholic education played a pivotal role in Robert's life. He graduated from Bishop Ludden High School and Le Moyne, where he earned a degree in biology, before going on to the University at Buffalo School of Dental Medicine.

It is with good reason that Robert has been called "a model deacon – and a very steady dentist."

With deep appreciation for his commitment to his patients, his faith and his community, Le Moyne College is proud to present to

ROBERT FANGIO '78, D.D.S.

DAVID McCALLUM '90, S.J.

If you were to ask David McCallum '90, S.J., to measure the impact Le Moyne has had on him, he would likely tell you it is immeasurable. It was on the Heights that David developed the intellectual foundation that has served him well over the course of his professional life, first felt called to serve God as a member of the Society of Jesus, and forged friendships that buoy him to this day. Nearly 20 years after his graduation, this English major and member of the Integral Honors Program returned to his alma mater as an educator, teaching courses in management and leadership, before taking on a variety of administrative responsibilities, including that of vice president for mission integration and development. He led the development of several key initiatives, including the Inside the L Program for student-athletes and the Manresa Program for students to explore self and vocation. He played a pivotal role in establishing a formal partnership between the College and the Ignatian Volunteer Corps, and in launching Ignatian formation programs for Le Moyne faculty and staff.

Now David has assumed new responsibilities that have taken him 4,300-miles away from the Heights to the General Curia in Rome. Superior General of the Society of Jesus Arturo Sosa, S.J., has given him a new mission as executive director of the Discerning Leadership Program (DLP), which seeks to form senior Church leaders in the practice of discernment, both individually and collectively. Participants include Vatican officials, major superiors of religious orders and their teams, and senior lay administrators working in the Roman Curia. Through his work with the DLP, David is using his skills, vision and charism to help support Pope Francis' vision for the reform and renewal of the Church. As he does this critical work, he continues to serve the College as special assistant to the president for international projects related to restorative justice between the Church and indigenous peoples, and is happy to call the College his "home away from Rome."

With deep appreciation for his contributions to the College and his fellow man as a priest, educator and administrator, Le Moyne College is proud to present to

DAVID McCALLUM '90, S.J.

Le Moyne has received three awards from the Mother Cabrini Health Foundation totaling nearly $600,000. These grants will each support a distinct aspect of the healthcare community in Central New York. The Purcell School of Professional Studies will work closely with other areas of the College to implement these programs, which will all take place during the 2021 calendar year. The grants will support: nursing recruitment for low-income and diverse populations, the Center for Aging Resources and Enrichment Webinar Series, and the Welcome Back Center, which integrates internationally trained healthcare workers into the field in Central New York.

In a unique collaboration, Le Moyne College, the City of Syracuse and the Town of DeWitt have launched a survey to gather feedback on issues related to transportation, housing, infrastructure, municipal services, economic development and overall quality of life from residents living in the neighborhoods around the College's campus. The survey is part of a comprehensive, long-term initiative called the Le Moyne Area Neighborhood Development Strategy, or LANDS.

Le Moyne launched the ERIE21 (Educating for Our Rising Innovation Economy in the 21st Century) initiative, which will provide infrastructure to support individuals preparing for jobs in the innovation economy. ERIE21 will develop a homegrown talent pool to help alleviate the critical shortage of software developers, analysts, engineers and cybersecurity experts in the area and attract new businesses to Central New York. It will also begin to address the plague of poverty – particularly the inordinately high incidence among Blacks and Latinos in the City of Syracuse – by introducing coding and computer skills to students at a young age at a time when it will engage them and spark an interest in possible careers.

President Linda LeMura, Ph.D., served as a Chancellor's Distinguished Visiting Fellow at Syracuse University. During her 10-week appointment, Dr. LeMura studied how institutions of higher education in the region can adapt and collaborate to enhance academic excellence, improve educational outcomes for underserved communities in Syracuse and Central New York, and strengthen research opportunities and economic development.

The current Le Moyne College Plaza will be reconfigured and will act as an incubator, accelerator and shared workspace for entrepreneurs across all industries. It will be a collaborative workspace open to people of all ages in the community, and will include a mechanical room, virtual lab, woodshop, 3D printing lab and shared work spaces. The entrepreneurial plaza will be under the auspices of the College's Keenan Center for Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Creativity.
